HANSEN · MUELLER

Hansen-Mueller provides trading and logistics services in specialized commodities, feed, and other dry bulk materials. From on-farm grain loading by truck, to ocean vessels and everything in between, we have the experience, the contacts and the facilities to assist you with importing, exporting, storing and trans-loading bulk commodities.

Since the beginning, commodity trading has been at the core of our business. Our experienced and informed traders handle commodities including corn, soybeans, wheat, milo and oats, as well as a number of feed ingredients and byproducts like dried distillers grains (DDGs), soybean meal, and soy hull pellets.

Our Houston elevator is an import and export facility that handles both conventional and organic commodities. We are currently importing specialty conventional and organic grains. We can offer most grains and some feed ingredients on FOB vessel or CNF Destination. We specialize on combo vessels. Port of Houston cost makes our facility more economical to load less than 25,000mt vessel vs New Orleans. We also offer loading and unloading of grains and feed ingredients loaded in 20-foot and 40-foot containers.
